

The Greatest Story Every Told - Exodus 2:1-10
January 14th, 2018

Introduction

The Gospel, the good news that Jesus brings is the possibility of _____, the proffering of _____, and promise of a glorious _____. The concepts of alienation, salvation and glorification are demonstrated in the birth narrative of _____ centuries before we meet Jesus Christ.

Argument: The Gospel of Christ is foreshadowed in the birth narrative of Moses...

1. Moses is born under a _____ but had a divine calling
 - There was a _____ sentence waiting for every male Hebrew baby.
 - Moses was born to a _____ father and a Levite mother.
 - Moses was looked upon when he was born and was pronounced "Tob(v)" - _____.
2. Moses is rescued in an _____ manner
 - Moses was saved by being placed in an _____.
 - Moses was _____ by the daughter of the person trying to kill him.
 - Moses was saved because someone had _____ on him.

3. Moses is _____ into the royal family
 - Moses was covered by the _____ of his mother and father when he was an infant.
 - Moses was given up for _____.
 - Moses' name foreshadows his role in the life of _____.

Implication for us:

1. Although we are born under and are affected by the results of the Fall, we have a _____ who intercedes for us.
2. God is in the business of _____ his people.
3. For those who are willing to call on the name of the Lord, they will be _____ and a glorious inheritance awaits.

Invitation

Sin is a reality, death is the proximity, Christ is the victory, and _____ is our future glory.

Believe the message; _____ the reward.

The OT gives the NT its _____ and _____. The story of Exodus relates directly to the story of Christ.

The two are separate sides of the same coin. Together they make the greatest story ever told.
